

xfbs dot net

My Website

Patrick M. Elsen

Updated 2021-01-19

Hey, welcome to my website. I'm Patrick Elsen, also known as xfbs / ks f bis/. I am available on github, gitlab and other places.

I'm studying Computer Science at the Technical University of Darmstadt. I've been passionately coding since I was about 12 years old, it started when I wanted to teach myself PHP and MySQL in order to write a browser game. That turned into a passion and a fascination for programming, so ever since I taught myself more languages. Besides coding, I also like to tinker around with electronics engineering in my free time.

This website is still under construction. It is generated using xfbsgen, which is a wrapper around pandoc. Some things might be broken, but I'm working on it. You can already see a list of Projects I've worked on, or look at what Tools I like. At some point, there might even be interesting Articles. Feel free to look around.

Cheers,
– xfbs